Abstract

In this talk we take a mathematical journey from sets to groups, with several stops at magmas, semigroups, and monoids. During the journey we will see how each of these mathematical objects is built from the previous. Once a method becomes clear we will discuss how such branches of mathematics as Arithmetic and Algebra can be made.